

HP Indigo is looking for a talented Chemical engineers, system engineers and Physicists to be part of the next revolution in digital printing technology and industry.

We are looking for energetic, talented, diligent engineers to develop high-end complex multi-disciplinary systems, in diverse, dynamic and challenging environment.

If you are holding an advanced academic degree from a known university, have a few years of industry experience and have a passion to drive the industry forward we might be a good match.

Please submit relevant resume to shani.bejerano-erlich@hp.com

