

BioChange is a biotechnology company in the field of regenerative medicine and tissue engineering. BioChange has developed a breakthrough technology for tissue regeneration. A unique injectable scaffold that stimulates tissue repair and remodeling at the injected site. We are seeking for a talented production and biomaterial engineer to join us. If you highly motivated and passionate for science and innovation please make the connection.

Responsibilities:

- Lead the process development of high-end, and production pipeline
- Plan and conduct experiments
- Analyze, presentation, and experimental data reports
- Participate in the writing of high-level documents

Requirements:

- B.Sc in biotechnology, biomedical engineering, life science or related fields
- experience in biotechnology
- Hands-on experience in bioanalytical and biochemical assays/methods
- Good team work capabilities.
- Effective communication, creative thinking and problem-solving skills.
- High-level English (reading, and writing)
- Full-time availability
- Location- Yokneam Illit
- CV: Shani.c@biochange.life